Meet the Challenge of Advanced Practice Nursing

Advanced practice nursing preparation at the graduate level is critical for nurses who wish to fully participate in the evolving health care system. The Master of Science in Nursing (MSN) degree prepares nurses to assess, plan, implement, and evaluate health care in various arenas. The program at Eastern Kentucky University (EKU) focuses on individuals, families, and communities in rural under-served areas.

The EKU MSN program has the following options:

- Rural Health Family Nurse Practitioner,
- Rural Psychiatric Mental Health Nurse Practitioner,
- Advanced Practice Rural Public Health Nursing with a choice of an area of concentration in either Administration or Nursing Education.
